Cars Entering Broadway Must Be Brought to Stop

Board of Public Works to Adopt New Rule Governing Broadway Traffic—Kingston Opera House Owner Wants to Extend Building Two Feet on Sidewalk, Raising an Interesting Question—Locust Avenue Residents Seek Relief.

Whether the owners of the Kingston Opera House building at John and Fair streets has the right to encroach two feet on the sidewalk on John street by extending the present building that number of feet so as to bring it flush with the adjoining Forman building at Wall and John streets, which houses the United Cigar store and the Prudential Insurance Company, was one of the interesting questions brought up at the meeting of the board of public works Tuesday evening. The board also directed Corporation Counsel James Jenkins to draft an amendment to the present traffic ordinance that will require all traffic entering Broadway from either side to come to a complete stop before entering that thoroughfare.

New Traffic Signal.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood sent in a communication to the board suggesting that the board install an automatic traffic signal at Wurts and West Union streets, to operate in conjunction with the present Rondout Creek Bridge signal.

As this is considered a dangerous corner, the matter had been under consideration by the board and on motion of Commissioner George F. Chandler the board voted to purchase the signal suggested by the chief of police.

New Traffic Regulation.

Commissioner Amos Van Etten said that he had noticed in other parts of the country that all traffic approaching a largely traveled boulevard came to a complete stop, and believed that such a rule could be worked on Broadway.

His opinion was shared by Commissioner Chandler and after some discussion the board directed Corporation Counsel James Jenkins to draft an amendment to the present traffic ordinance which will require all traffic approaching Broadway from either side to stop before entering that thoroughfare. The corporation counsel was asked to have the amendment ready so that action could be taken at the next meeting of the board.

Order Scales Removed.

The board of governors of the Ulster County Automobile Club wrote that it favored the removal of the street scales in Hurley avenue at Washington avenue, and also that "bumps" on the Washington avenue viaduct receive attention. The board decided to notify the owner of the street scales to remove same within ten days.

The Opera House Question.

At the present time the work of remodeling the Kingston Opera House is underway by the W. W. Kingston Company, and Commissioner Chandler stated that Everett Fowler had informed him that the owner of the building desired permission to extend the present structure two feet so it would be flush with the Forman building.

Corporation Counsel Jenkins in reply to questions by the board stated that John street had never been deeded to the city but as it had been used as a street for over two hundred years it gave the city just as good a title as though it had been deeded. He said the board had no authority to grant the owner of the building the right to encroach two feet on John street, as the present building lines had been in existence for at least fifty years.

It was also brought out that if the owner attempted to encroach two feet on the present sidewalk line that the work could be stopped by an injunction obtained by the city or by any taxpayer.

After some further discussion of the matter it was referred to the corporation counsel for his opinion.

Other Matters.

N. H. Fessenden wrote that he owned a lot on Locust avenue which he desired to have filled in with ashes by the city. It was referred to Superintendent Van Keuren.

Maude Helen Hasbrouck wrote regarding the north side of Stuyvesant street where water lays on the street after a heavy shower and which could be eliminated by installing a pipe line. It was referred to the city engineer and superintendent with power.

Residents of Lounsbury Place petitioned for the construction of a sanitary sewer which was referred to the city engineer to estimate the cost of construction and report at the next meeting.

Cordts Hose Block Party.

Cordts Hose Company wrote asking permission to use part of Abruyn street, from Delaware avenue to Wall street, for a block party on the evening of August 4. The request was granted.

The Gage Street Sewer.

Superintendent Van Keuren reported that the cost of constructing a storm water sewer in Gage street was $959.97. The report was approved.

Complained of Blasting.

George F. McCardle of 22 Davis street wrote that owing to the heavy blasting at the city quarry, the ceiling in his kitchen had fallen and he believed that the board should install a metal ceiling in his house. It was referred to the corporation counsel.

Garages and Dining Cars.

Permission was granted the owner to erect a one car garage at 147 Pearl street.

Ruth L. Ricks asked permission to place a dining car on the property at 713 Broadway, which was granted.

George A. Shufeldt asked permission to remodel a barn on his property on Shufeldt street into a garage. It was referred to the superintendent with power.

The W. W. Kingston Company wrote it had the contract to remodel the front of the building of George A. Dittmar at 567 Broadway, and that it would be necessary to shore the building while work was under way. Permission was granted.

The Broadway Garage asked permission to install an electric sign at 708 Broadway, which was granted. Reade's Kingston Theatre asked permission to install a sign in front of the theatre on Wall street, which was granted, provided the sign was an electric one.

"The Adoption Degree."

Minnewaska Tribe of Red Men asked permission for the use of Forsyth Park on September 25 for a picnic to be followed by the working of the "adoption degree" in the evening. The request was granted.

Objected to Parking.

Alderman DeGarmo of the First ward appeared before the board in regard to prohibiting all parking of cars on North Front street between Clinton avenue and Wall street. After some discussion, Mayor Block appointed Commissioners Chandler and Van Etten as a committee to consider the matter and report at the next meeting.

Waters Must Move Logs.

John H. Dittus, who resides at the corner of East Chester street and Hemlock avenue, appeared before the board and stated that F. A. Waters was still using Hemlock avenue as a dumping place for logs. The board decided to give Mr. Waters ten days to remove the logs from the street, and if not done in that time that the logs be removed by the city at Mr. Waters's expense.

Locust Avenue Complaint.

Several residents of Locust avenue appeared before the board seeking relief. They stated that some time ago the big clay slide at the Terry brickyard had carried away about fifty feet of Locust avenue and that the road should be replaced so that the road could be used. The matter was referred to the city engineer and superintendent for immediate action.

Lights on Wrentham Street.

Commissioner Fessenden of the lighting committee reported in favor of installing three sixty-watt lights on Wrentham street. The report was adopted.

Bills and claims were read and audited and the board then adjourned.

NEWARK SALESMAN KILLED IN MONTREAL EARLY TODAY

Wiarton, Ont., July 28.—E. B. McCoy, a rug salesman of Newark, N. J., was shot to death here early today.

Shortly after the shooting, the police arrested Kathleen Hardman, of Wiarton, Ont., who, it is alleged had recently complained bitterly to friends of McCoy's attentions.

The story, as pieced together by the police, starts in Newark where McCoy became infatuated with Miss Hardman. Both were employed by a rug firm there.

Miss Hardman, resenting these attentions, left Newark three months ago for Montreal whither McCoy followed her. The shooting which resulted in the death of McCoy is believed by police to have followed an altercation between the couple.

McCoy, police said, was a married man.

Wagon Delays Traffic.

A wheel of a loaded coal wagon fell off this morning at the corner of Fair and North Front streets and the front end of the wagon dropped on the trolley track at the curve, delaying traffic for some time until the wagon was jacked up and the wheel replaced.

Community Dollar Day Sale Here August 12

More Than One Hundred Merchants to Participate in Annual Business Event Whose Popularity Increases Each Year—Stores to Remain Open That Evening—Patronized by Buyers of Large Area.

With more than one hundred of the merchants of Kingston cooperating, the annual Community Dollar Day Sale will be held this year on Thursday, August 12, and an extensive advertising campaign will inaugurate what promises to be the biggest bargain day ever held in Kingston. It is expected that the event will draw thousands of residents of Ulster county and adjoining counties to Kingston that day, and to take care of those who will avail themselves of this shopping opportunity the stores participating will remain open during the evening.

This annual event was inaugurated several years ago, and every year has seen more and more merchants of the city participating in it, and this year's enrolment of merchants is the largest in the history of the sale. There have been few events in Kingston to equal in importance this annual Dollar Day Sale, and last year the number of shoppers from outside of Kingston who came here to purchase set a new record. This year, however, it is expected that that record will be shattered.

It has been decided to hold a band concert uptown that evening from 7 to 9:30 o'clock, as the band concert last year proved such a success.

The growth of the annual Dollar Day Sale has even surprised those who first inaugurated the idea in Kingston, for the realization was far greater than the expectation. Since the inauguration of the event the number of merchants participating has been growing until for the sale this year more than one hundred of the most representative mercantile establishments in Kingston are represented.

The preliminary plans for the big sales event have been carefully made, and from now until the day of the event it will be extensively advertised not only in Kingston and Ulster county, but in the adjacent counties as results of other years have shown that the shopping public not only in the immediate vicinity were vitally interested but that those residing in adjoining counties realized that Dollar Day in Kingston meant exactly what was advertised.

Robert T. Lincoln Buried in Vermont

Man Who Linked Past America With Present Buried in Dellwood Cemetery, Manchester—Body Will be Taken to Springfield, Ill., Later.

Manchester, Vt., July 28.—"Neighbor Lincoln" was at rest today within the shadow of Equinox in the village he loved so well and where in turn he was beloved by the village folk.

Robert T. Lincoln, first born of the great emancipator and last to die, sought obscurity from the world for eight months of the year at Hildene, his summer home, and among his neighbors on the shaded village streets of Manchester.

He had escaped from the eclipse which the shadow of a great man often casts upon the pathway of his children and as simple as was his life here, was the funeral services today. The Rev. D. Cunningham-Graham, pastor of the Congregational Church, came to officiate at the last rites, distinctly private.

Dellwood Cemetery was chosen as the resting place of the body of the man who linked the past America with the present. Later the body will be taken to Springfield, Ill., for interment in the Lincoln family tomb.

Police Quiz Bandit Gang

Five Members of "Hell's Kitchen" Gang Confess to Spending $15,000 Which They Obtained From Four "White Light" District Hold-ups.

New York, July 28.—Five members of the "Hell's Kitchen" bandit gang who confessed to spending $15,000 "enjoying themselves" from the stolen proceeds of four "White Light" district hold-ups, will be scrutinized today in the police line-up by witnesses to daring robberies of the last three months. Three of the band have records while the other two have associated with criminals since boyhood, according to police.

One of the band was accidentally killed by a pal in a recent hold-up, according to the confessions, and another has not yet been caught. Among the robberies the prisoners confessed to was the $5,000 Roosevelt Hospital bandit raid a few weeks ago.

The five men, held without bail, are Philip Oberst, alias "Duffy" 22, Peter Mahoney, 22, Bernard Frankel, alias "Frenchy", 20, Leo Hecker, alias Harry Stein, 21; and John Ward, alias Kerrigan, 25.

"Three of these men were paroled from prison," said Police Commissioner McLaughlin today. "Here is a real test of the parole system. Four policemen are lying dangerously wounded in hospitals from bullets of desperate gunmen like these fellows."

The arrests were made as the result of detectives tracing a straw hat which one of the bandits dropped in his flight during the robbery of the Liotione Italian Bank.

Guardsman Killed.

Concord, Mass., July 28.—Private John T. Mason, 22, of 26 Carney street, Charlestown, member of Battery C, 101st Field Artillery, 26th Division, National Guard was killed and five other privates of the same outfit were slightly hurt here today when their automobile crashed into a telegraph pole at the foot of a hill near Lake Waldron.

Democrats Are Very Mysterious

Local Civil Service Board, Controlled by Democrats, Moves Mysteriously and Shrouds Acts in Secrecy—Why? Is the Question Asked.

Although the local civil service board, which is controlled by the Democrats, held civil service examinations several weeks ago to make up a list of men eligible for the job of janitor in the city schools and also for clerk in the high school, the board refuses to make public the list of those taking the examinations or the ratings they received.

It is said that in one of the examinations, that of clerk, the young woman who had been filling the office most efficiently stands very low on the list while others who were absolutely unacquainted with the work head the list, or are near the head. That may be one of the reasons why the board acts in so mysterious a manner.

James S. McAndrew is president of the civil service board and L. S. Dunne is secretary. Before the board was controlled by the Democrats no attempt was made to keep from the public the list of those taking examinations or the ratings made after the examinations.

Voelker Will Be Arraigned Today

When He Has Promised He Will Make Clean Breast of Whole Affair—Will Name Those Higher Up.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28.—James C. Voelker today stands ready to name those higher up in the wood alcohol traffic which has cost thirty-seven lives here and in nearby towns.

He is under heavy police protection in the Erie county jail where he is imprisoned on a murder charge, guarded against possible attack from a gang of gunmen said to have been imported from Detroit to "take care" of squealers.

Six more arrests have been made, including that of Carl Voelker, 59, father of the alleged distributer of the poisoned liquor.

The younger Voelker who will be arraigned today, has told police that he will make a clean breast of his part in the deadly alcohol traffic, and describe his recent trip to New York, which he said he made for the purpose of informing those from whom he bought the alcohol that it contained poison.

He has not as yet explained the presence in his home of a redistilling plant such as those used for renaturing wood alcohol.

Mexican Agents Must Enforce Law or Resign

Mexican Attorney General Tells Agents That They Must Enforce Law Against Catholics After August 1 or Resign—Other Developments.

Mexico City, July 28.—Prosecute all Catholics who refuse obedience to religious legislation or resign.

This was the substance of orders sent to all agents of the Department of Justice and prosecuting officials today by Attorney General Romeo Ortega.

The attorney general's instructions, issued in a circular, declared that all those who do not intend to "work harmoniously and loyally in the enforcement of the government's religious policy," should notify the attorney general in order to "avoid consequences harmful to the nation."

Attorney General Ortega in his letter declares that officials should recall that in the past there have been obstructionist tactics by Catholics and predicted that there would be efforts to evade the religious regulations effective August 1. He voiced a demand that all officials fulfill their duty in enforcing these regulations or quit their offices.

Sismaticos Want Churches.

Schismatic Catholics of Mexico, who hold a doctrine opposed to that of the Roman Catholics of the country, announced today that they were prepared to take over the churches and institute services as soon as the churches are abandoned by their regular clergy on August 1. Their action would depend upon whether or not the government approves their plan, they stated.

The Sismaticos, as they are known, gave the International News Service the following statement:

"As fast as the Romanist priests desert the churches we will move in performing all rites, supplying all the spiritual needs of the people, provided, of course, we can obtain the necessary permission of the government."

Definite application for permission to take over most of the important churches in Mexico was filed this morning by Patriarch Perez of the Schismatic Church. Perez made it clear that his followers did not seek the churches for their riches but for the opportunity the impending abandonment provided them with for spreading their teachings.

Archbishop Near Collapse.

Archbishop Mora Y Del Rio, who is directing the Catholic Church movements in the controversy, is reported to be on the verge of a breakdown and it is feared that unless the situation eases and the strain upon him is lessened that he cannot continue his work.

[illegible]ants Fear Boycott.

Merchants throughout the country are reported to be aroused over the prospects of the boycott, as the religious fervor is running so high as to make it probable that the boycott will be completely effective and will result in serious injury to trade.

Hopes that the government would not be too stern in its actions against the churchmen were raised when it was learned that the charges against Rene Garza, Rafael Ceniceres Villareal and Luis Bustos, lay leaders of the National League of Religious Defense, have been reduced to inciting a disobedience of the law, instead of sedition as at first reported. These three men have been indicted for issuing the manifesto calling for a boycott.

Rush for Religious Rites.

Indications of the rush for religious rites prior to the closing of the churches is given in a statement from priests at the Mexico City Cathedral to the effect that there have been 96,000 confirmations between July 1 and July 26. It is also reported that hundreds of unmarried couples have also hastened to the church to have their unions sanctioned and their children blessed.

Yesterday there were 5,000 baptisms, 4,000 confirmations and 1,000 weddings in Mexico City.

Thousands attended church services today, and hundreds of others sought religious rites.

Will Study Situation.

Forty pastors of American Protestant and Jewish churches today started their attempt to make an impartial study of the religious situation in Mexico.

The party arriving last night was met at Laredo by Robert Haberman, fraternal relations officer of the Mexican and American Federations of Labor, and taken by automobile to the capital.

One of the first sights which they were allowed to see was a [illegible] [illegible] by the League for Religious Defense [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] hostile demonstration.

George Inness, Jr., Dies at Cragsmoor

Noted Artist Succumbs to Attack of Acute Indigestion Tuesday Night—His Masterpiece, "The Only Hope," Was Exhibited Here—Was Son of World Famous Artist.

George Inness, Jr., the noted artist, died suddenly of acute indigestion at his summer home at Cragsmoor on Tuesday evening at 11.20 o'clock, aged 72 years. He is survived by his wife and two children. Funeral services will be held from the late residence on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Montclair, N. J.

What some critics consider as Mr. Inness's finest painting, "The Only Hope," was placed on view throughout the United States last year and was shown for several days in St John's Church on Wall street, this city, where it was viewed by thousands. This beautiful painting from the brush of Mr. Inness was painted for the Miami, Florida, Chamber of Commerce, who decided before it was finally hung in that city to afford an opportunity to the thousands of lovers of painting throughout the country to view the masterpiece.

The painting was conveyed from town to town and city to city in a large automobile truck, and wherever it was displayed it drew thousands. Copies of the painting were struck off and are now in the possession of many throughout the country.

Several fine paintings from the brush of Mr. Inness are also hung on the walls of the Elks' Club on Fair street, where Mr. Inness was a frequent visitor while in Kingston, and he had a wide circle of friends in this city who found him a genial and talented man.

Mr. Inness was born at Paris, France, on January 5, 1854, the son of George Inness, whose fame as an artist was world-wide. During 1870 to 1874, the son studied painting under his father in Rome, and the following year, 1875, he continued his studies in Paris.

He married Julia Goodrich Smith and resided in Boston and New York, where he occupied a studio with his father in 1878.

After 1880 Mr. Inness resided with his family in Montclair, N. J., where burial will be made.

Mr. Inness had a studio in Paris which he maintained from 1895 to 1899. His paintings were annually exhibited at the Paris Salon, and received honorable mention in 1896, and in 1900 he was awarded a gold medal.

Mr. Inness was an officer in 1902 of the Academie des Beaux Arts in Paris; of the A. N. A. in 1895, and the National Academy in 1899.

The artist always signed his paintings, "Inness, Jr." thus designating them from the works of his father.

In 1917 he wrote the "Art, Life and Letters of George Inness."

Mr. Inness during the winter months resided at Tarpon Springs, Florida, and the summer months he spent at his beautiful home at Cragsmoor, near Ellenville.

When the present Elks' Club on Fair street was erected Mr. Inness was made an honorary member and presented with a life membership.

CONLON IS SERVING SENTENCE FOR ASSAULT.

Conlon on December 23, 1924, was committed in city court for 30 days being found guilty of assaulting a man named Winchell with a club on Crown street. He appealed to county court and Judge Fowler having dismissed the appeal, an order of arrest was made and Conlon is serving his sentence.

FIRE WIPES OUT BUSINESS SECTION OF INDIANA TOWN

[illegible], Ind., July 28.—The business section of the town of Patricksburg, southeast of here, was wiped out by fire today, with a total loss of $100,000. Clothing Workers Strike.

Montreal, July 28.—[illegible] thousand clothing workers of this city and surrounding districts, 4,000 of whom are members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union of America, went out on strike today as a protest against alleged abuses of uniform working conditions. Pickets were stationed around the closed shops.

Old Dobbin comes into his own at this year's Farm and Home Bureau-Chamber of Commerce Picnic. Featuring a colorful street parade of beautifully decorated auto floats, circus performers and band musicians will be a sight now usually missing yet ever beautiful to see—a parade of Ulster county's best draft horses. Dressed up in their best shiny harness, driven by their favorite driver, the old stand-bys will keep step with the best in the land on this day.

To make the occasion more interesting the picnic committee have arranged to present to the owner of the best team in the parade a silver cup and to the driver of the team five dollars in gold. While to be sure a bright and shiny appearance of both team and rig is much to be desired the committee announce that appearance alone will not win the prize. A competent judge, one who can look all the way through, will be engaged to do the judging and on his decision the cup and gold will be awarded.

Those entering teams should bear a few simple rules in mind:

First, teams must be in heavy work harness.

Second, must be hitched preferably to heavy wagon.

Third, may or may not be decorated.

Fourth, must be owned in Ulster county.

Fifth, judging will be on showing as work team without trial or demonstration.

The committee believe this contest will prove one of the most interesting features of the entire parade and are banking heavily on a large number of entrants from Kingston and surrounding country. Any one desiring to enter is requested to turn in his name at the Chamber of Commerce or the Farm Bureau office or to notify Roy M. Sutliff, chairman of the picnic parade committee.

Nature Study at Palisades Park

Lightning Bugs Are Made to Work Overtime—Training Trails Are Blazed By Director Lutz—Station Three Miles North of Tuxedo.

Making the illumination of fireflies continue steadily for over twenty-four hours, instead of intermittently, a moment at a time, is one of the bits of research with those interesting insects, at the Station for the Study of Insects, of the American Museum of Natural History, in the Harriman State Park, near Tuxedo, N. Y., under the direction of Dr. Frank E. Lutz, Curator of Entomology at the museum and director of the station. This effect was produced by the use of heavy "shots" of adrenalin, (an extract of small glands near the kidneys, which has attained a wide use in medicine as a stimulant) in experiments by William S. Creighton, a graduate student of Princeton and a guest of the station. He has fitted up a field laboratory in an old barn on the site, which was donated partly by the commissioners of the Palisades Interstate Park and partly by W. Averall Harriman.

Makes Light a Steady Glow.

Studies are being pursued by Mr. Creighton into the nature of the fireflies' light, its method of production, and its purpose, whether serving as a means of attraction between the sexes, as has been generally supposed, or for some other object. Mr. Creighton found that insects given an injection of a solution of adrenalin, administered with a syringe between the segments of their bodies, into their open circulation, changed their light from an intermittent flashing to a steady glow. When they were given enough of the drug to keep them alight for as much as twenty-four hours, they expended so much vital energy, apparently, that they expired at the end of such a period. Where the dose is lighter, enough to keep them shinnig steadily for only three or four hours, they recover and seem to be normal thereafter.

Contracts Involuntary Muscles.

The effect of adrenalin upon living tissue usually is to cause intense contraction of the involuntary muscles. The lighting apparatus of the firefly includes groups of light cells, which produce substances known as luciferin and luciferase, which are luminous even when isolated from the bodies of the insects in the form of a minutely grained powder. These cells are stimulated by oxygen from the air, received through a system of tubes, something like those of the human lungs. The small tubes, running from the main inlet to the cell groups are provided with an elastic band the size of which is regulated by contracting and expanding muscle. This appears to release and suppress the light at the quick intervals of normal action. The adrenalin contracts these muscles and keeps them rigid, for as many hours as the dose is effective, so that the emission of light is constant.

Adrenalin has also been found to increase the amount of light emitted by some of the smaller species of fireflies, which ordinarily show but a faint degree of illumination, compared with the larger form which is the brilliant lamplighter of our summer evenings. It also increases the illumination by the female of the larger species, which has only two narrow bands of light while the male has almost a third of its body lighted.

Nature Trail Idea Extended.

The training and testing trails at Dr. Lutz's outdoor museum continue to enjoy the popularity which this novel and immediately successful experiment in nature study in the field enjoyed when it was inaugurated last year. It has been extended and improved in several ways. More casual adult visitors, as well as hundreds of boys and girls from the camps in the Harriman Park are visiting the station.

A suitable material for permanent labels, monel metal, an alloy which holds writing and resists corrosion, has been substituted for the linen tags of the first season, and these metal tags can be left out all winter. This makes it possible for the exhibits on the trails at the museum, and elsewhere in the park, to be plainly labelled and explained, all the year around. This has suggested to Major W. A. Welch, general manager of the park, who cordially supported Dr. Lutz's novel educational enterprise, the extension of the idea of labelling notable natural objects throughout the 40,000 acres of the Harriman preserve, on the hundreds of miles of hikers' trails, which penetrate many remote recesses inaccessible to the motorist.

Label Interesting Pothole.

One of the first of such phenomena to be suitably labelled will be a long-abandoned pothole,' on a smoothly planed ledge on the side of the Seven Lakes Drive, at the south end of Lake Tiorati, in the center of the park, which marks the site of a waterfall on some stream during one of the intervals of recession in the continental ice sheets of the glacial period. The bed of the stream has disappeared, in the changes of surface contours since, and the pothole itself has probably been beheaded by later glacial planing.

Visitors unacquainted with its origin surmise that it is an Indian corn mill, but it is a lot older than the red man, and Dr. Lutz will prepare a label to show its history. There is a much larger pothole, big enough for a man to stand inside it, on the Ramapo-Dunderberg Trail, on Fingerboard Mountain, at an elevation of 1,300 feet, a mile west of the specimen on the drive. It indicates the position of a waterfall on a good sized creek, whose drainage system was obliterated by the scour of the last glacial advance.

Progressive Nature Education.

Dr. Lutz's system of labels is not merely a method of pointing out natural objects by themselves, but it is progressive, beginning at the start of the training trail with simple ideas, in the identification of plants and their insect inhabitants, and going on to more complex relations between these two orders of life, and their environment, so that careful attention to the lessons that are taught, step by step, gives the observes a sense of the dependency of all living things upon each other and on their surroundings.

"Darwin Was Right."

An interesting new feature of the trail system this year is an exhibit which declares that "Darwin was right", although fundamentalists need not get excited about it, for it only concerns earthworms. It shows how these creatures, by passing particles of both mineral and vegetable matter through their bodies, enrich the soil. Worms were placed in a glass container of sand, with grass, lettuce and other succulent vegetable matter for food. Within a few weeks they have noticeably changed the sand in the direction of loam, showing in graphic fashion the immense effects on soil fertility caused by these lowly creatures, as Darwin described this function fifty years ago.

"Jimmy", a well-mannered—if not disturbed—skunk, is again a member of the family of creatures of these woods, which Dr. Dutz and his assistant, F. Martin Brown, with boys of the educational classes of the museum, have reassembled this summer.

The station is at the corner of the approach road, turning off the Tuxedo-Middletown highway, three miles north of Tuxedo, into the Seven Lakes Drive, the main Harriman Park thoroughfare, and the new road leading west to Greenwood Lake. Interested visitors are welcome.

EXPECT MANY ENTRIES FOR NEWBURGH BABY SHOW.

Local entries have been received for the Baby Beauty Show, which is to be a feature of the community outing, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce at Newburgh, on Wednesday, August 11. The entry list will remain open for several days longer, affording further opportunity to arrange for participation in the baby exhibit. Entries may be made with John F. Tucker, manager, care of the Chamber of Commerce, Newburgh, N. Y. Last year approximately 200 babies competed for the handsome prizes and it is expected that an even larger number will be in the show on August 11. The daughter of Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., was one of last year's winners.

It is noteworthy that during the period of ten years that the show has been conducted, the majority of prizes have been carried away by babies other than those entered from Newburgh city. Besides the baby show, the afternoon program for the community outing, which will be staged in Downing Park, will include a decorated doll and baby carriage parade, for which entries may also be made with John F. Tucker. A Sesqui baby will be among the selection made during the baby show. This is being arranged in connection with the sesquicentennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the prize is being offered by the sesquicentennial committee in charge of the Sesquicentennial Exposition. A sesquicentennial pageant will also be presented by the children of Newburgh following the baby show.

One of the features of the afternoon program will be a series of whippet races, staged by Jack Davies, a noted whippet fancier of Westfield, N. J. The evening program, which is to be staged in the Delano-Hitch Recreation Park, will include exhibition of rough riding by New York State Troopers, a Twilight League baseball game and fireworks. The entire program will be given free.

Every Cigarette At Its Best Because "It's Toasted"

LUCKY STRIKES are made from the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly blended.

Besides this supreme quality of leaf tobacco as compared with all other cigarettes—"IT'S TOASTED".

Just what does this mean—this phrase, "IT'S TOASTED"?

The tobacco is oven toasted at very high heats for 45 minutes; then chilled with the moisture completely restored. The toasting brings out the hidden flavors of the superbly fine tobacco. The chilling seals in these flavors; seals in, too, the moisture that has been restored. It all acts like a cold plunge on the pores of the body.

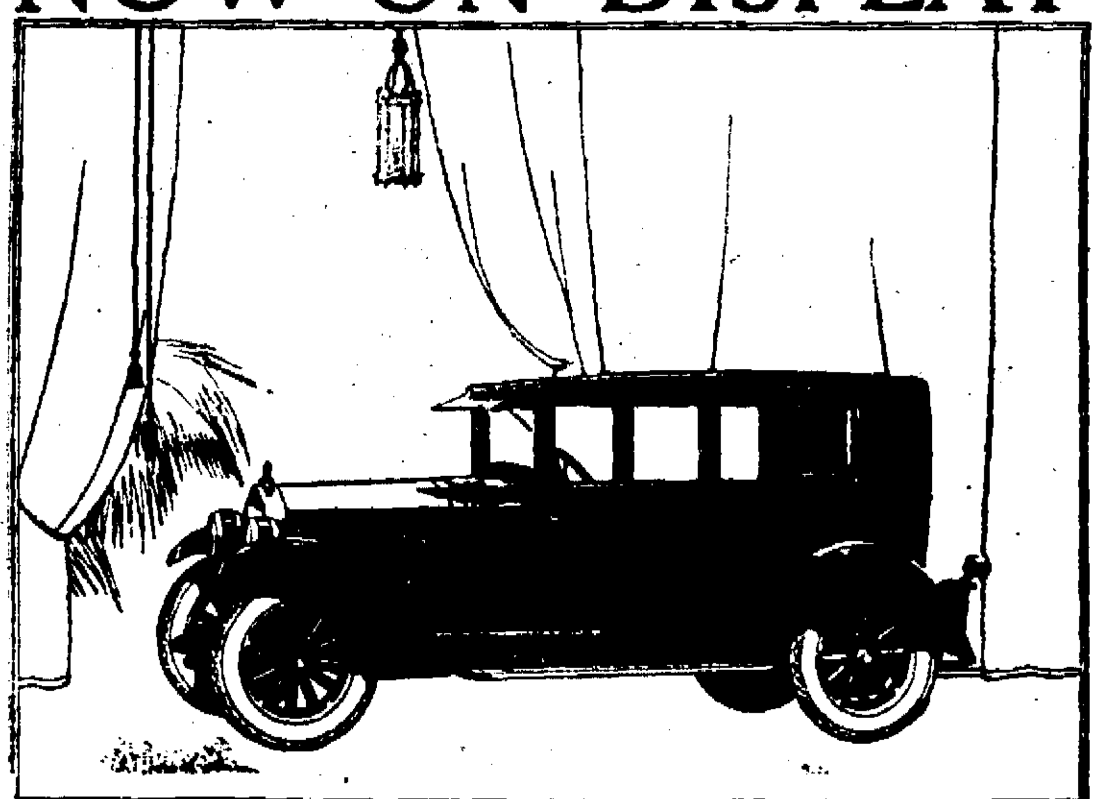

That's why LUCKIES taste so good. Why LUCKIES are always fresh when they come to you. Why millions prefer this uniquely fine cigarette.

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted, and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions, are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true.

And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high-baked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. But only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.

Strangers Swindle Street Cleaner

Peter Campanelli, street cleaner in Saugerties, fell victim to two swindlers on Tuesday about noon when a couple of slick talkers told him that in order to work for a municipality he had to pay the sum of two and a half dollars as a tax to the United States Government.

The story which was told sounded all right and the men said that Floyd Van Loan, the street superintendent had sent them to collect the toll and as "Petey" only had two dollars with him the swindlers were satisfied and handed the cleaner a receipt for the money received.

A short time later the receipt was shown to a friend who quickly learned that the affair was a fraud and that the paper which was handed the cleaner was a fruit packer's blank with address from Miami, Florida.

Scout Saved Drowning Man

New Paltz, July 28.—Boy Scout Edward Baldwin of New Paltz saved a man from drowning one day recently. The vaudeville troupe which played at Colonial Hall that evening were at the swimming hole when one of their number ventured too far out stream and not being able to touch bottom with his feet became excited, lost his presence of mind and sank.

Two of his companions seeing him rushed to the spot and when he came up grabbed him and started to pull him to shore. However, being excited themselves they were pulling the victim under water and strangling him.

Edward Baldwin, who was in a canoe, saw the danger of the man being drowned, dived in and pushing off the would-be rescuers brought the man, who was unconscious, to the surface and towed him to shore.

Getting him on the bank, he applied restorative methods as taught by the Boy Scout organization and brought the young man to consciousness. It was the successful outcome of what otherwise might have been a very unfortunate accident. An accident like this calls attention to the value of Scout training.

MARLBOROUGH.

Marlborough, July 28.—Vaudeville did not meet with quite the favor and enthusiasm among Marlborough people that the United Triangle Corporation expected when a few months ago they leased the Advance Theatre which was then showing movies under the management of W. R. Seaman of Highland. Once again there will be movies only and under the management of W. R. Seaman, who has taken back the Advance Theatre in spite of the fact that the United Triangle Corporation had leased it for a number of years. Adolph Menjou in "The King of Main Street," was shown on the screen Saturday evening under the old management.

The special benefit performance of "Kempy" held Tuesday night, July 20, by the Elverhoj Players near Milton for the village improvement society of Marlborough, brought out a fair crowd. A total of $57.50 was taken in from the sale of special tickets. Under an agreement made with the players, each group will get half of this, so that both are better off to the extent of $28.75. The crowd from this village that attended seemed to appreciate the players' work very much and will no doubt continue to take advantage of the offerings at the theatre the remainder of the summer.

First Production Of "The Lovers"

Rehearsals are now well under way on "The Lovers" by Carlo Goldoni, which is to be the third production of the Phoenix Players at Woodstock, opening Tuesday, August 3. The Phoenix Players have the privilege of presenting this play for the first in America as well as the first time in the English language, hence the opening night will be a most auspicious occasion inasmuch as many New York managers wish "The Lovers" for Broadway presentation in the fall.

Two of the best known and most popular of the Phoenix Players, Haroldine Humphreys and William Miles, translated the play from the Italian and it is considered by literary experts as the finest translation ever made of a Goldini play. Miss Humphreys is well known in theatrical circles as the Nun in Morris Gest's spectacular production of "The Miracle," and, of late, as Gwendolen in the Actors' Theatre production of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

"The Lovers" will run for two weeks with performances on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and matinees every Friday. Ticket reservations may be made at The Governor Clinton Hotel news stand or by telephoning Woodstock 175.

DISHES FROM GRAINS

The coarser foods are quite necessary in our diet and should be freely used at all times of the year.

Scotch Oat Crackers.—Put two cupfuls of rolled oats through the meat grinder, add one-fourth of a cupful each of milk and molasses, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of fat, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth of a cupful of raisins or nuts cut into bits. Mix well, roll very thin and cut into fancy shapes. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Oatmeal Soup.—Take one-half can of tomatoes, one-third of a cupful of oatmeal, two cupfuls of water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half of a small onion, pepper and salt to taste, a bit of bayleaf and two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter. Cook one hour, rub through a sieve, add seasoning if needed and serve hot.

Hominy Gems.—Pour one cupful of scalded milk over half a cupful of corn meal, add one-fourth of a cupful of hominy, a tablespoonful of sugar and the same of shortening, mix well, cool, add a yolk beaten thick and a white beaten stiff. Sift in one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a little salt; beat well and bake in hot well-greased gem pans.

Hominy and Pecan Croquettes.—Boil one-half cupful of hominy with a teaspoonful of salt in two cupfuls of water five minutes, then put into a double boiler and cook two hours. Add two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half cupful of chopped pecans and a teaspoonful of scraped onion. Cool and shape into cylinders. Beat one egg lightly, add two tablespoonfuls of water, roll the croquettes in crumbs, then egg, then in crumbs again and fry in deep fat. This makes one dozen croquettes.

Rich Drop Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar, one egg well beaten, three-fourths cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, raisins, nuts or citron. Drop by teaspoonful on butter sheet, spread thinly with a knife dipped in water; decorate with fruit and nuts.

What Is Worn Around One's Throat Stamps the Wearer as Being Well-Informed—as for Instance, a Feather Boa or One of the New Scarfs.

A season or so ago Molyneux dared to revive the ostrich boa, an accessory rarely seen outside of photographs of Queen Mary and her household. He decided to introduce it in its most extreme interpretation and so used the tied willow plumes and made boas that were fluffy and shaggy, albeit round. They met with only a moderate success, but in the shorter lengths they seem to have a wide appeal, for, of course, they are a substitute for fur and a pleasant change during the summer at least.

Scarfs continue to be important. Some of the newer Parisian ones are very bold in design and combine two colors. Others are in cubist pattern. Still others incline toward graceful flower designs.

Net is a medium for scarfs these days, net embroidered or plain although the sudden furore over tulle did not amount to more than a flurry. For sports and trotteur wear women prefer the chic bandana or handkerchief arrangement, and then like taffeta because it is capable of such smart arrangements.

While on the focusing subject of accessories, it may be well to mention that conservative women have given up extremes in footwear and have gone back to smart and relatively simple patent leather for town wear. They have also taken to slipon gloves in chamois or washable kid.

The Evolution of the Silhouette and What Paris Makes of It for Immediate Application and Future Use.

One of the interesting features of the Paris midseason collections is the variety of silhouettes mentioned in coats. Which one or how many of these lines will be preserved for the fall mode is a speculation that is of interest to the stylist.

A majority of the showings stressed the bloused silhouette in varied treatments but sponsored it more generally in the back only.

The bolero is another silhouette given prominence by a larger number of couturiers and is mentioned as characteristic of the Drecoll collection. Bernard makes interesting use of it in chevron effect and Jenny features it in many of her coats.

Novelty in Capes.

The importance of the dolman differs among collections, Lelong showing only one, while with Martial et Armand it is the dominant note. Vionnet develops it in fur, and Boudreaux advocates snug lines in the dolman expression.

The cape is not neglected, and is given support by many couturiers, including such names as Jenny and Renee, who use it in different manners. Renee sponsors it in sleeve effects on coats, while Jenny introduces the novelty of making the cape of a different fabric from the coat.

The straight line coat, exploiting width by means of pleats set at the bottom, is also one that is sponsored by most designers, pleats being of varied types and placed in different positions, sometimes at the sides, and sometimes all the way around.

Cling to Straight Line.

Fashion does not change abruptly, but by a gradually evolving silhouette, accustoming the eye to the new balancing and proportioning of the figure and to new decorative effects by a series of slight changes, almost imperceptible in themselves.

The modern woman clinging tenaciously to the straight line silhouette, checked recent efforts of designers to widen the lower part of the silhouette, rejecting all but the more subtle flares and giving only qualified acceptance only to that fullness unobtrusively introduced without interference with the slim silhouette.

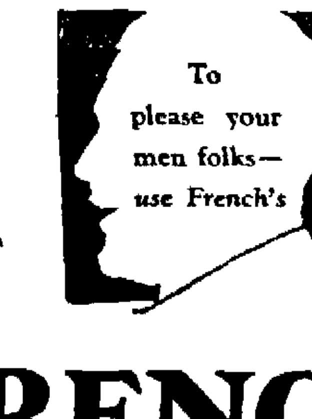

Fashion creators were ingenious in adding that variety which is the life and spirit of the fashion world, [illegible] are now concentrating interest at the upper part of the silhouette. Leaving the hipline slim, flat and youthful by contrast. The blouse [illegible] giving new balance to the figure, the present importance of color and emphasis upon fabric and [illegible] give piquancy to the mode.

The bloused silhouette, breaking, as it does, the waist line, is the one about which the battle wages.

MARRIAGE AT SEA

The custom of marriage at sea performed by the captain of the vessel, originated in the days of sailing ships, when voyages often lasted six months and sometimes the greater part of a year, it being therefore assumed that any couple on board who were in love and desirous to marry should not in reason be kept waiting so long. Thus it came about that the power to perform the ceremony in the absence of an authorized clergymen was added to the captain's many other powers, including those of life and death. In his position of wide authority it was regarded as proper that he should perform a civil marriage in the presence of witnesses and it was conceded that his record of it in his log completed a perfectly legal marriage under the common law.

It is true that conditions have changed and that voyages are now relatively short, but that seems hardly a sufficient reason for abolishing an ancient and honored custom simply because some reformer has risen to announce that there is no explicit warrant for it on the statute books of the nations. The captain of a vessel at sea must still command and act in many emergencies, must read the burial service over the dead, for example, and though it is said that they would be glad to be relieved of the duty of performing the marriage ceremony, there might still be times when even this would be desirable, and when thereby the institution of matrimony would be strengthened rather than weakened

THE SIMPLE ANSWER.

In his speech at Augusta, Ga., Senator Borah denounced the nullification of the Eighteenth amendment in his usual impressive style, but he said nothing about two other amendments to the Constitution which have been virtually nullified in Georgia and other Southern States for many years. Does the Senator regard the Eighteenth amendment as the only part of the Constitution that is "sacred," or even worth while talking about? It would seem so, but that is not the reason why he omitted to mention the two amendments which have been determinedly disregarded or side-stepped in Georgia and the mention of which would have chilled the warm appreciation of his audience as well as upset the foundations of his eloquence. The real reason is that he knows just about how much a people will stand when they are called on to do what they think the conditions render impossible

A similar recognition of a similar difficulty has just been indirectly confessed by Mr. Volstead himself. Admitting to a New York Herald Tribune interviewer that even his great Northwestern prairies are still very damp, not to say wet, that difficulty in enforcing prohibition there will be encountered "for many, many years" and that it is folly to deny that anybody who wants it "can get a drink of liquor," even outside of the cities, Mr. Volstead went on to say, "This fact stands out, however, that if the police of the country had a mind to enforce the law they could close up every illegitimate drinking place in the land in fifteen minutes. We can't get them to look at it, somehow, as they do at other infractions of the law." Why is this thus? Why was Congress recently told that two hundred millions a year would be required to bring about anything like real enforcement? The simple answer is that an enormous percentage of American public opinion is opposed to enforcement

The news comes of worry in London over the etiquette of hat lifting, which leans toward the new military practice of saluting always with the right hand, although conservatives stoutly contend for the Victorian practice of lifting the hat with the left hand when the person saluted is on the right. But why not let it be "good form" for each person to do as he likes?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

FATIGUE AND INFECTION.

Some research men at John Hopkins, and others in London, England, have been experimenting with the question of fatigue, or tiredness, as being a frequent cause of infection

One scientist has made the statement that "fatigue has a larger share in the promotion of the transmission of disease than any other single condition that can be named."

It has been shown that if muscles are worked continuously until fatigue is reached particularly where there is insufficient ventilation, that there is an accumulation of acid wastes in the blood which in turn can make considerable changes in different parts of the body. For instance the breathing becomes rapid and labored, and the heart beats harder and faster, the muscle itself may be sore, and if examined by a microscope some actual changes in its structure may be seen

Now muscular work and mental work or worry, can all cause fatigue products and the system be poisoned to just that extent.

If certain infections, (not all however), come along at this time the individual certainly cannot put up the same fight against them. The fact that a completely exhausted man may escape infection where a well person does not, may prove anything, because the tired man may be immune to that particular ailment

No one would question the statement that the tired or exhausted man contracts pneumonia readily

Now if fatigue or tiredness predisposes to infection, there is only one line of treatment to prevent it, and that is by rest

Hurry, worry, keeping the mind and body in a constant state of tension, brings on fatigue much sooner than where one has learned mental and physical control

The green boxer, the beginner in swimming, are excellent examples of how quickly one can become tired when the nervous tension, or nervous-attention, enters into the work done.

So the suggestion is, that frequent rest periods be taken with complete relaxation of the body and the mind

Lying down and breathing slowly and deeply, as if utterly exhausted, is an efficient method of getting this relaxation.

I know that there may be some who get more rest than they need, but I am trying to speak a word to those high strung nervous folks that work hard, sleep too lightly and forget the needs of the body from the standpoint of food, rest, and exercise.

RADIO AMATEURS TO GET INSTRUCTION AT C. M. T. C.

New York, July 28.—Radio amateurs of New York, New Jersey and Delaware with ambitions to become licensed commercial operators are offered an unusual opportunity under a plan which will go into effect with the opening of the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Fort Monmouth, N. J., next Tuesday.

Evening classes teaching the most advanced methods of commercial practice have been authorized by Major-General Charles P. Summerall for genuinely ambitious C. M. T. C. students. Those classes, which are in addition to the regular instruction which stresses the military uses of radio, will be under a corps of qualified radio experts

Graduation from the evening classes will admit the amateurs to the Department of Commerce examinations which will be held at Fort Monmouth at the conclusion of the C. M. T. C. training. In preparation, the amateurs will have all the facilities of the Army's huge Signal Corps laboratories to experiment with in their spare moments

Admittance to the C. M. T. Camp at Fort Monmouth is limited to young men between 17 and 31 of high moral character. They must pass the physical examinations of the Government. All necessary expenses, including food, uniforms, camping facilities, and railroad fare to Fort Monmouth and return are paid by the Government. Applications may be sent to C. M. T. C. officer, Governors Island, N. Y.

P.A. was a revelation to me!

FOR a long time, I wouldn't admit that anybody could tell me anything about tobacco. I was satisfied with the brand I was smoking. At least, I thought I was. And then one day, I borrowed a pipe-load of Prince Albert from a fellow passenger in the smoking-car.

To make a long story short, that experience revised all my previous notions about tobacco. The very first puff told me that I had been missing something good up till that moment. It was cool and refreshing as a breath of mountain air. It was sweet and fragrant.

I was ready to admit right then and there that you can teach an old dog new smoke-tricks. When the train pulled in at the station, I bought me a tidy red tin of P. A. for myself. Since then, I've thrown away enough empties to make a fair-sized tin garage.

Maybe you think that you are all set on a smoke-program. I just want to leave this thought with you: until you have smoked P. A., you have no idea of how that old pipe of yours can perform with real tobacco. Give Prince Albert a chance in your jimmy-pipe.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Five Nations Attack and Destroy Canadian Settlements and Ravage Country, July 28, 1688.

Throughout the whole of the year 1688, the Seneca, Onondaga and Mohawk continued a fierce retaliatory war upon the Canadians because of the attempt to extinguish these nations by Governor DeNonville.

Fort Chambly was beset, the houses in the vicinity burned to the ground, and the warriors returned in triumph with numerous captives to Albany. Several French soldiers were captured near Fort Frontenac by the Onondaga and held by them as hostages until the sachems should be returned to their own country unharmed from the galley ships of Marseilles, France.

DeNonville appealed to Governor Dongan, as a Roman Catholic, to aid him in negotiating a peace and to use his influence for a restoration of the captives.

Dongan answered that no peace could be made with the Five Nations until the Onondaga sachems were released from the French galleys and sent home, the Christian Indians returned to their own country, the forts at Niagara and Frontenac razed, and compensation made to the Seneca for the damage they had sustained.

DeNonville indignantly refused to purchase peace on any such humiliating terms, and Garrangula, the Onondaga chief, immediately advanced at the head of 500 warriors.

"I have always loved the French," said the scornful chieftain. "Our warriors propose to come and burn your forts, your houses, your granges, and your corn, to weaken you by famine, and then to overwhelm you. I am come to tell Yonnondio (French Governor of Canada) he can escape this misery, if within four days he will yield to the terms which Corlear (English Governor of New York) has proposed."

Thus haughtily threatened DeNonville yielded. A truce being proclaimed, twelve hundred warriors met the French governor in council at Montreal, and dictated a treaty of peace of terms previously offered by Governor Dongan.

But while the prospects of peace were thus brightening, a singular artifice, adopted by a tribe of Indians friendly to the French, suddenly inspired the Iroquois with sentiments of bitterest hostility.

The Dinondadie, a tribe at war with the Five Nations, desirous of preventing a good understanding between the French and the Iroquois, executed the following strategem to effect their purpose.

One hundred warriors, led by Adario, their chief, suddenly intercepted the Iroquois deputies while they were on their way to Montreal to ratify the treaty previously agreed upon. Some were killed and the remainder taken prisoners.

Adario then boasted to the captives that he owed his success to the French governor, who had given him timely information of the approach of fifty Iroquois warriors.

Surprised at this apparently treacherous conduct, the ambassadors communicated to Chief Adario the peaceful object of their journey. Feigning the utmost indignation and remorse at having been made an instrument of the basest treachery, Adario instantly ordered the captives to be set free.

"Go, my brethren," said he; "I untie your bonds and send you home again, though our nations be at war. The French governor has made me commit so black an action, that I shall never rest easy until your people shall have taken a full revenge."

Giving implicit credence to the story told by Adario, the Five Nations no sooner heard of the outrage which had been committed upon the persons of their ambassadors, than they collected 1,200 warriors, and on July 26, 1688, landed on the south side of Montreal, burned, sacked, ravaged and plundered all the surrounding settlements, up even to the very gates of the city. They slew one thousand of the inhabitants, and carrying off twenty-six captives tortured them to death at the stake.

Not content with this terrible retaliation they returned again in October, and committed further devastations of the most barbarous character.

Perfectly paralyzed with terror, the French made no resistance, and the Indians, gaining increased confidence, swept over the whole of Canada, carrying destruction wherever they went.

Of the remaining tribes only two remained faithful to the French in their adversity, all the others renounced their alliance, and made peace with the Iroquois and the English

Had the latter rendered the least assistance to the Five Nations, the whole French dominion in Canada would have been at an end. As it was, the cities of Quebec, Montreal and Trois Rivieres alone remained, the whole country south of the lakes being permanently conquered by the confederated warriors

Meal-Planning Makes Work Easy

Housewives Can Get Quantity and Variety by Following Schedule—Pancakes as Dessert.

"Meal-planning can be reduced to simplest terms with a good outline to follow" says the state college of home economics at Ithaca, N. Y. An outline which includes the foods necessary each day insures the proper combinations of foods and leaves nothing for the housewife to do but fill in the specific dishes for the daily three meals."

To help New York state housewives the college has worked out a plan for the day's meals which provides plenty to eat for either sedentary or active persons and allows enough leeway for variety from day to day.

Fruit, milk and whole cereals are the important breakfast items of the meal plan. At least one-half cup of fruit; fresh, dried or canned, is recommended. A whole cereal breakfast food with milk or an equal amount of bread with milk to drink should be provided. Whole cereal bread, toast or muffins with butter, and a beverage complete the plan for an adequate breakfast. Heartier meals for persons doing hard muscular work demand eggs, bacon, or potatoes. Doughnuts, cookies, jams, marmalades and pancakes are considered desserts, to be eaten only after the essential foods.

Dinner, whether at noon or at night, should include potatoes, unless dried beans, rice or macaroni is used, and at least one-half cupful of other vegetables. Meat, fish, poultry or an egg or cheese dish should also be a part of this meal, with whole cereal bread and butter to accompany the main course. A light dessert such as fruit, plain or in salad or pudding, simple cake or cookies, ice, or ice cream is advised when the main part of the meal is heavy. Pies, rice cakes, shortcakes, and steamed puddings may follow a light main course.

The supper or lunch plan consists of a vegetable, milk in some form, whole grain in bread or as a cereal with milk, a light dessert and an egg or cheese dish to make a more substantial meal. Milk is advised as a drink for children at every meal, and adults may have tea or coffee.

Fifty Hurt at Coney Island

When Stone Railing on Crowded Stairway Leading From Boardwalk to Beach Collapses.

New York, July 28.—Three persons were dying today and fifty others were injured following the collapse of a stone railing on a crowded stairway leading from the boardwalk at Coney Island to the beach.

With a crowd packed on the stairway witnessing the weekly display of fireworks, the railing gave way under the pressure of the throng and hurled a hundred spectators to the beach some distance below. A number were injured in the panic which followed.

Many of the injured were struck by chunks of concrete and others hit by falling people.

Word of the accident traveled through the mass of 250,000 persons surging along the boardwalk and police reserves were called to calm the excitement.

Anthony Pisano, 32, wounded war veteran, received internal injuries and a fractured back. Mrs. Millie Krachkow, 31, suffered serious internal injuries. Among those believed dying is an unidentified man suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Fifty-Six Cows On Honor Roll

The June report of the Ulster County Farm Bureau Dairy Improvement Association has been completed for the month by Association Tester R. R. Staples. It shows fifty-six cows on the honor roll for the month, each one having produced 1,200 pounds of milk or 40 pounds of butterfat for the thirty day test period. William Bruyn's purebred Holstein Shirling carried off high honors for the month, leading all other cows in the Association, both in pounds production and pounds of butterfat. Her record showed 1,939 pounds of milk, 77.2 pounds of butterfat. The following members of the Association own cows that reached the honor class:

John H. Beatty	Ten head
Millard Davis	Seven head
Fred DuBois	Seven head
S. B. Phelps	Six head
W. E. Bruyn	Six head
Matthew T. E. DeWitt	Five head
Frank DuBois	Four head
Pratt Boice	Three head
Fred Stang	Two head
E. J. Muller	One head
A. Birkenshaw	One head
Alfred Rider	One head
Kate Jansen	One head
George Dusinberre	One head
Charles Mertz	One head

Men who continue to feed during the pasture period show best results according to Tester Staples. This statement is further strengthened by advice on experimental results from the State College.

INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AT NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, July 28.—There was an automobile accident about six o'clock last Saturday evening in front of the house by the Lloyd Cemetery. Mrs. P. J. Mott and family were at supper and heard the crash. Webster J. Mott and his sister, Mrs. H. L. Thomas, ran out and found that a Dodge touring car containing three young men had overturned in front of the house and that one young man, the owner of the car, was under the car. Mr. Mott helped the other men get the car off of the injured man, who appeared at first to be dead. But they finally could hear faint heart beats and a Poughkeepsie car coming along took the injured man to a hospital in Poughkeepsie. A few hours later the Dodge car was taken to Ohioville. The name of the owner of the car is said to be George [illegible], who was on his way to spend Sunday with his family who board at Schoonmaker's north of Ohioville.

THE CHEETAH

"The other name I have," said the Cheetah, "which isn't as difficult to say, and which is easier to understand too, is the name of Hunting Leopard.

"I received that name because in India, where some of my family live, we are trained to hunt with the native people there, but it is a cruel story and I don't care to tell it.

"I would rather tell you that I am happy in the zoo, really and truly and honestly happy.

"I like to be petted and handled and I will not hurt the keeper.

"The keeper is good to me and I am nice to him. We are friendly and that is the way I like it to be.

"It is the way the keeper likes it to be, too, so you see we are both satisfied and pleased.

"Any other way would not suit either of us.

As you see, I have a little head and a thin body with long legs.

"Of course you understand, and you see that the long legs are on the thin body, or, rather, attached to it.

"They aren't on my legs.

"Or, rather, I mean to say, my legs aren't on my little head.

"Of course that is absurd even to think about, but I expressed myself in such an odd way at first when I said, all-jumbled-together, that I had a little head and a thin body with long legs—that you might not know just where the legs belonged.

"I am not a usual animal, such as the regular leopard.

"In fact I am quite unusual.

"Some of my family come from Asia and some from Africa, but I'm such a nice, good-natured animal and so different from the real leopard that it seems a pity there aren't more of us around.

"But although hunting leopard is an easier name to say than Cheetah, please call me Cheetah, for hunting is what I was taught to do, and not what I did of my own free will and accord.

"I would so much rather be a pet, oh, so much, much, much, much rather.

"Let's forget about these days when I was a hunting leopard, and let us just think about how glad I am to be here.

"Oh, I am just as glad as ever I can be, and it makes me so happy that the keeper likes me.

"It makes me happy that I like him too, for you know it does make you happy when you like creatures and people.

"I Like the Visitors."

"When you feel hatred for others you're not happy. I know all about that, too.

"I like the visitors who come to the zoo and I wish everyone who comes to the zoo a polite good morning, good afternoon or whatever the time of day may be.

"They may not all understand me, but that is what I wish them, just the same.

"So, everybody, please like the Cheetah, for he likes you and is glad to see you and hopes you're glad to see him."

But then as the Cheetah had talked a good deal he felt rather tired and he fell asleep, but as he dreamed he smiled in his cheetah way and the people who came to the zoo said:

"That animal looks very friendly!"

But Billie Brownie, who had had on his invisible robe because there had been a good many people around and he had not wanted to be seen, said:

"Ah, I'll publish the story of the Cheetah in the Natureland News.

"And I will tell the Breeze Brothers to tell others about the nice Cheetah who lives to be friendly and who only hunted because he was taught to hunt and had to hunt, but who doesn't miss it in the least.

"Nice, nice Cheetah!"

BUSINESS ACTIVITIES STILL ABOVE NORMAL

Babson Park, Mass., July 28, (Special).—Throughout the country as a whole we find that general business activities are still averaging about 7% above normal—which is by no means a bad showing for this season of the year. On the other hand, it is the lowest figure of the year so far, and is just one-half the business activity that we saw last January and from which time there has been a small but persistent decline each month with the single exception of the month of June which went 1% ahead of May before July came and dropped the figure 1% below May.

The month of June, our last complete month at this writing, showed only three lines of business in the more important business barometers which actually slumped both more than the previous month and also the same month a year ago. These were the steel business, the production of petroleum and building throughout 37 states of the Union. In no case, was the slump more than 10%.

The widow, Mrs. Grace Parish Dodge, and the eldest son, Cleveland E. Dodge, were named executors.

In his will, Dodge wrote:

"Believing it wiser to give liberally during my life to religious and charitable objects, I make no bequests of that character."

Save-to-Travel, New Bank Move

President of Bowery Savings Bank Named New York State Chairman of Save-to-Travel Association—Francis H. Sisson National Chairman Makes Popular Appointment.

New York, July 28.—William E. Knox, president of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York city and past president of the American Bankers Association, has been appointed New York state chairman of the Save-to-Travel Association, an organization of banks, railroad companies and steamship lines, to promote systematic savings.

Mr. Knox's appointment to this position by Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company and national chairman of the Save-to-Travel Association, is received with approval by banking institutions throughout the country, who see in this rapidly growing movement great possibilities in which banks may serve their communities, resulting in good not only to themselves, but to every depositor in this new field of saving.

In commenting on the movement, Mr. Knox said: "This makes an additional service that the banks are rendering to the people. This idea of promoting travel in connection with savings is another opportunity for service as well as another point of contact with the public."

Through the Save-to-Travel plan, a sort of club arrangement which is being instituted in banks throughout the country, depositors are encouraged to deposit weekly any sum they may wish, amounts ranging usually from $1 to $20 for the purpose of travel. The bank, through this plan, is not only encouraging systematic savings, but it becomes a sort of clearing house for disseminat-information for intelligent travel which is bound to bring about new contacts. Thus, through membership in the Save-to-Travel Association, new doors of business are opened.

Uni-Slyke Trim The Artistics

The Uni-Slyke massacred Percy Jones's giants Tuesday evening, at the Athletic Field, and defeated the Artistics, 20-2, going into a tie for second place with the U. & D. in the Industrial League. Every man on the Uni-Slyke team got at least one hit.

Lefty Williams tossed them over for the Combination team and had an easy time of it, striking out nine and allowing but six hits. He also contributed two home runs.

The Uni-Slyke's biggest innings were the fifth and seventh. In the fifth Ploskie and Norton connected for triples, Colvin for a double and Williams for a home run. In the seventh Williams connected for another homer, two men being aboard the bags.

The Artistics scored one in the first and one in the third on singles by Toffel and Bannon.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Yankees trimmed the Browns, 6 to 5, in the first game of their western invasion and stretched their lead to nine and one-half games. Homers by Ruth and Combs helped Pennock beat Zachary

The Bambino's wallop was his thirty-first homer of the season and puts him five homers or twenty-three games behind his record.

Washington took fifth place away from the White Sox by downing the Pale Hose 7 to 2. Al Thomas blew up in the eighth when the Senators scored six runs while Walter Johnson pitched well all the way.

Slim Harriss and Baby Doll Jacobson, handed the Red Sox by Connie Mack, collaborated by whitewashing the Tigers 7 to 0. Harriss yielded only five hits while Jake got five bingles including a homer.

The Pirates got off to a running start against the Giants and just lasted to win, 4 to 3. Jackson and Lindstrom kept the Giants in the game with homers.

Bob McGraw of the Dodgers beat the Reds 6 to 3 but Brooklyn was kalsomined by Carl Mays in the second game, 2 to 0.

A single by Andy High enabled Bob Smith of the Braves to win a 1 to 0 duel from Charley Root of the Cubs in the ninth. The Cubs got only four hits.

The Cardinals climbed to within two games of second place by taking a 9 to 5 slugging match from the Phillies.

Dempsey-Tunney Fight Uncertain

Despite the Action of State Athletic Commission—Licenses Will Probably Be Withheld—Controversy Likely to End in Courts.

New York, July 28.—There will be no Dempsey-Tunney fight in New York or anywhere else—James A. Farley.

The commission has approved the bout and the license committee has no right to refuse a permit to Rickard except for a legal reason—George E. Brower.

The fight is coming back to New York, where it belongs, even if it is necessary to go into court for the licenses—William Muldoon.

There, in a nutshell, you have an idea of the uncertainty into which Tex Rickard will plunge upon his return from Chicago to complete plans for a heavyweight championship battle between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney at the Yankee Stadium on September 16.

The lawyers probably will have their inning soon as the controversy now seems headed for the courts.

On the surface it has been smoothed over by the action of the State Athletic Commission yesterday in granting permission to Rickard to stage the fight. Underneath, however, there is plenty of turmoil.

The responsibility now rests on Colonel John J. Phelan, chairman of the license committee. James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, was outvoted by Commissioners Brower and Muldoon yesterday in the matter of approving Rickard's application, but he has not ceased fighting.

Before they can do any boxing in New York Dempsey and Tunney must apply for licenses. The license committee met yesterday and, among other things, ruled that all applications for reinstatements must be made direct to the committee.

If this procedure is enforced Dempsey and Tunney cannot make application through the boxing board, where a friendly majority exists, but must go to Colonel Phelan and his associate, D. Walker Wear.

Colonel Phelan is known to look with extreme disfavor on Dempsey, especially since the champion "ran out" on Harry Wills after agreeing to come to a definite understanding with the commission on that match.

It is not likely that Rickard will be able to get any action, one way or the other, on the fighters' licenses before the next meeting of the license committee.

Tex is faced with the necessity of getting his show under way immediately. He must establish training camps for Dempsey and Tunney, get his ticket sale started and the "ballyhoo" heated up.

For a fight of such importance six weeks are hardly sufficient to arrange the thousand and one details. If Dempsey and Tunney are balked by the license committee, the legal battle will begin.

RICKARD NEVER HAD A CHANCE TO STAGE BOUT IN CHICAGO

Chicago, July 28.—Tex Rickard's attempt to promote a heavyweight championship fight in Chicago never had a chance, according to a review today of business transacted at the semi-weekly session of the Illinois Athletic Commission.

Not only did the commission go on record as opposed to this particular bout, but to all heavyweight boxing matches as well.

"The big fellows are too mussy," explained Chairman Huncke. "We do not intend to sanction any heavyweight contest in this state, whether it involves a championship or not."

Last Night's Fights.

New London, Conn., July 28.—Sixteen contenders, including Miss Glenna Collett, national champion, remain in the annual women's invitation golf tournament for the Griswold trophy which enters the second round of match play today at the Shenecossett Country Club.

Fisher Puts Up A Great Fight

Local Boxer Defeats Newburgh Opponent at Fair Grounds Tuesday Night—James Lett Wins Watermelon Contest.

With Jack Pilus of Newburgh flat to the canvas and very groggy in the final round of the main bout of the Fair Grounds smoker Tuesday evening, the gong saved the Hilly City scrapper from a knockout by Charlie Fisher, local whirlwind. Charlie was driving the down-river fighter hard in the sixth round and finally sent his opponent sprawling to the canvas, but before he could be counted out by Referee Bill Todd the bell sounded and brought the most furious battle of the evening to a close.

This principal match was one of the five bouts on the program of the second smoker and entertainment of its kind to be held in the Fair Grounds open-air arena this summer. The first smoker was held some weeks ago and this second entertainment was even more successful with a bigger attendance and a livelier program. There were about five hundred present while there were only half this number at the first smoker.

Pilus tipped the scales at 149 and Charlie Fisher at 145. The pair didn't begin to hammer each other in true style until the second session, when they made the ring a dangerous place. But the most furious round was the last when they discharged volleys of blows at each other that were damaging Charlie's cool-headed fighting began to tell on the Newburgher in the final session although he hung on stubbornly. The local scrapper gave him a severe lacing in the last round as he went down for a sure K. O., but the bell saved the Hilly City mittman at the eleventh hour, pulling the curtain on the scrap after the count of three.

The runner-up fight which brought Joe Brown of Newburgh and Vince Hart of Kingston together was also exciting. In the third round Vince hammered his oppenent so hard that he was forced to take the count of nine twice before the gong ended the round. This match was scheduled to go six sessions but at the end of the fourth Bill Todd ended the fight. Young Thomas of Kingston and Kid Brown of Saugerties also put up a good exhibition for four rounds. This pair weighed 145. Frenchy De Wigg and Tony Maccarro had it hot and heavy also for four sessions. The opening contest was between Billy Lietz of New Paltz and Al Carpino of Newburgh. The New Paltz fighter was disqualified in the second round for hitting Sarpino while he was on his knees.

Six colored contestants were entered in the watermelon-eating contest. James Lett exhibited the most speed and was declared the winner. The battle royal was the most entertaining act of the evening as six colored lads had a free-for-all within the squared circle.

KANTROWITZ KINGSTON

We started writing this so late that we doubt if we're going to get it in tonight's paper.

Anyway, it was a bit cooler yesterday wasn't it? One thing that we can't understand is that when we are working during the week—it's so blamed hot and then every Sunday when we can take a rest, it get's so darn cool.

Ain't Nature Grand?

Again we want to impress upon you that this is supposed to be an "ad" but we'll be darned if we know what to advertise only—well—"SAVE AT DAVE'S"—that's all.

Florida Storm Works Havoc

Tropical Hurricane Causes Damage Estimated At More Than a Million Dollars—No Deaths Reported As Yet.

West Palm Beach, Fla, July 28.—Damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 in this vicinity has been caused by a tropical hurricane which struck the Palm Beaches Monday night and raged for more than 24 hours, according to a preliminary survey early today.

Damage to shipping in Lake Worth will run to $500,000, it is reported here. Many valuable yachts have been submerged, and all house boats in Lake Worth have been abandoned, the residents taking refuge in hotels. Lake Worth and ocean shores are covered with debris, and it is feared many ships have foundered.

The wind and the water reached the highest marks registered here since the storm of 1903. The ocean is running down into Lake Worth in many places. The grounds of the Alba Hotel are submerged, and the waves are beating over the roof of the Palm Beach Golf Club, with the grounds all under water. All electric lights are out, with little possibility of restoring service before another 24 hours. The water supply is inadequate, as the wind has blown water in the fresh water lakes back towards the Everglades.

Many suburbs are already without water, lights or telephone service.

No deaths in this vicinity had been reported early today.

Serious damage has been done to plate glass windows, electric signs and awnings in the entire business district of West Palm Beach.

Fear Storm Will Continue.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 28.—After suffering 36 hours of terrific gales and torrential rains the storm-tossed coast of Florida today feared scattered attacks from the tropical hurricane which struck the lower east coast Monday night.

The storm centre is still on the southeast coast and is moving slowly north, the local weather bureau reported this morning in a preliminary bulletin.

The Mexican oil tanker Agwimex from New York reported to the Anastasia island radio station near here that it had run into the hurricane 70 miles north of Jupiter Inlet, and was racing back north. The Agwimex said it was outriding the storm.

Murder Mystery May Be Solved

Arrest of Murderers of Don R. Mellett, Canton, Ohio, Publisher, Appears to Be Imminent—Chain of Evidence Nearly Complete—Messages Pour Into Canton From All Over the World.

Canton, Ohio, July 28.—Arrest of the murderers and their accomplices in the Don R. Mellett assassination loomed imminent today when it was learned at the headquarters of the wide-flung coordinated hunt that but a few links of evidence remained to be uncovered to complete the investigators' case against certain Canton "jungle" characters.

Ora Slater, generalissimo of the campaign against the underworld, said this morning that he would arrest no one to be held on a "suspicious person charge." No arrests will be made until a confession is gained he said.

"The first arrest made by myself will be on a warrant charging murder," the Cincinnati detective stated.

For several days Slater and his cohorts have been able to place their hands upon at least one of the men connected with the murder, it became known this morning.

Grilling the Underworld.

In order to complete the chain of evidence, Earl Hexamer, acting chief of police and Slater today will indulge in a wholesale grilling of underworld characters who to date have escaped questioning.

Anonymous letters, phone calls and other "tips" on the murderers began to pour into Slater's headquarters by the scores today, strengthening the belief that the $27,000 reward will "get the story" from some one who is aware of all the facts of the murder.

Much mystery surrounded the investigation that is being made by operatives of the William D. Burns detective agency, but it was learned this morning that officials of that agency are working, not only on the theory that a national conspiracy is under way to assassinate crusading editors but that a smaller conspiracy exists in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

A spokesman for the Burns Agency declared that they believed the ring included men in the "bad lands" of Cleveland, Akron, Massillon, Canton, Toledo, East Liverpool, Steubenville, other Ohio cities and Pittsburgh and New Kensington, Pa.

Newspaper Receives Many Messages.

The bullet which took the fearless publisher's life truly was "a shot heard 'round the world."

From every corner of the earth there has been pouring into the editorial offices of the Canton Daily News, notes, messages and editorials of sympathy and indignation.

Today a request was made by the Japanese-American, a newspaper published in Tokio, for a picture of Mellett and a summary of his campaign against alleged police protected vice conditions.

Editorials by the hundreds from every state in the union have been received by the editor of the Daily News—the majority of them declaring that "in death Don R. Mellett will accomplish that purpose which he could not in life!"

Hunt Suspects.

Pittsburgh, July 28.—Three Pittsburgh Greeks, identities unrevealed, were being sought in the Hill District, Pittsburgh's "bad lands," here today, as police awaited the arrival of Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, leader in the search for the slayers of Don Mellett, Canton, O., publisher.

Peter Connors, head of the homicide squad, announced that the three men were to be questioned "to check up on a very strong chain of evidence," which he said local police had against the men.

Thaw Denies Reported Romances.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 28.—Harry K. Thaw, reviewed his reported romances today, issuing denials from his hotel suite. Gold Scattered Right and Left

In Illinois Primary Campaign by Senator McKinley According to Testimony Given Before Reed Committee—Scattered $350,000.

Federal Bldg., Chicago, July 28.—An amazing story of Illinois politics, in which gold was scattered as carelessly as autumn leaves falling in a windstorm, was revealed to the Senate Slush Fund Committee today, when Henry L. Green, his official "paymaster," explained how the $350,000 campaign fund put up by Senator William B. McKinley was spent in his futile race for renomination to the Senate.

Green told how he paid out a total of $324,000 without keeping records, and while handing out sums ranging from $500 to $1,000 to men he had never seen before. Green said he scattered $5,000 a day whenever he visited Chicago and he could give the committee no record at all of these expenditures.

It was in cash, Green explained. Under questioning by Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, he declared the Illinois politicians refused to accept the checks, and demanded straight cash. So he paid, he admitted and in some instances, he couldn't tell within $500 how much he had given to McKinley followers.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 28.—Industrial stocks made a prompt response today to the brilliant series of industrial earnings statements issued after the close of yesterday's market, and featured by the first half-year's records of United States Steel and General Motors Corporation.

Trading included a number of the prominent railroad, copper, oil, mercantile and specialty stocks which have been comparatively inactive of late. Many oil stocks advanced a point or more.

An early professional attempt to force a decline in United States Steel stock was unsuccessful, and the bulk of sales in that stock were at prices a point or more above Tuesday's close. General Motors advanced 4 points to a new high at 175¾.

Pools in the industrial and specialty stocks whipped up prices of their favorites after the third hour. A block of 7,500 shares of American Can sold at 69, the first time this year in which the stock has reached that price level. Texas Gulf, Sulphur Woolworth, Congoleum, Allied Chemical and other specialty stocks also reached the highest levels on the movement.

Copper stocks also sold at their best prices for the movement. The rails were not so active, though Coast Line gained 4½ points at 220.

Boston, July 28.—A drive on the so-called "Boston" pool of clearing house statement figures, patronized daily by 25,000 persons throughout New England, is underway by Department of Justice agents.

Charged in a secret indictment with carrying lots of 650 tickets in the pool from Boston to Bangor, Maine, Arthur J. Driscoll of this city was arraigned in federal court today, pleaded not guilty and was held for trial.

The "Boston", the agents said, is the second largest pool in the country for betting on clearing house statement figures, the largest being the "Albany", operated from New York city.

Flying Flivvers AroundtheCorner

Edsel Ford Tells President Coolidge —Ford Workers Have Nearly Perfected a Huge Freight Airplane.

White Pines Camp, N. Y., July 28.—"Flying flivvers" are just around the corner, Edsel Ford, son of the automobile manufacturer, told President Coolidge today.

The Ford heir expects to see quantity production of airplanes in the near future, and is now directing a large part of the Ford interests in experimenting along this line.

Ford workers have nearly perfected a huge freight airplane, he said, capable of carrying a ton of general cargo on long non-stop flights. This plane is a metal monoplane utilizing three Wright whirlwind motors. It will also have accommodations for passengers.

While admitting that commercial air transportation is still in its experimental stage, Ford believes that its perfection is about to be realized.

Ford believes that the present high cost of airplanes can be greatly reduced and that an increased demand, which will be noticed when airplanes are made more practicable, will cut prices of airplanes to a low figure.

Odds and Ends

The regular monthly meeting of the board of managers of the Home for the Aged will be held at the home on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"Showing Off" Seldom a Trait of Sterner Sex

Modesty in man seems to be inherent. It appears at a very early age and is apparently independent of training. The little girl begins to show pleasure in being noticed and in wearing nice clothes. The little boy is the shyest creature imaginable. His one longing is to look exactly like all other boys and to be lost in the mob, is the assertion of Ramsey Traquair, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Most boys pass through agonies on going first to school, because their collar is not quite the right pattern or their tie is the wrong color. It is not until a fairly late age that they learn to have an individuality. Many men, indeed, remain boys in this all their lives, each one is of "the crowd," and unfortunately our present system of education tends to keep them so.

One of the difficulties in introducing the boy scout movement into Canada was the shyness of the boys. They were ashamed to show their knees or elbows. In the United States the boy scouts still modestly cover these parts. Girls, as we know, have no such shyness.

Wherever man is supreme, as in Turkey or India or classic Greece, he enforces modesty on women. Wherever woman rebels against his rule he denounces each new thing she does as immodest or unwomanly.

Hold Famous Horses.

Montreal, July 28.—Nine-sixty, one of the outstanding thoroughbreds racing in Canada, may not show his fleet pair of heels to the field again this year. Nine-sixty and his stablemate, the veteran campaigner, Halu, were in retirement today, in the custody of Canadian Customs Officer Daniel O'Grady. The horses were seized at the time of the arrest of their trainer, J. L. Brannon and Mrs. Brannon, on charges of bringing stolen property into Canada from Florida.

Saved Man From Drowning.

Miss Olga Khuen, who has a summer home at Catskill, on Monday afternoon saved a man from drowning in the Catskill creek. She saw him struggling in the water and went to his assistance, bringing him safely to shore.

Barge Adrift Off Key West.

Union Picnic Was a Success

The union picnic held by the Trinity M. E. and Rondout Presbyterian Sunday schools Tuesday at the picnic grounds of the Golden Rule Inn on Mirror Lake was a big success in every particular. Four busses left the schools at ten o'clock filled to overflowing with happy children and parents. Many also went in private cars and later in the afternoon a number of members engaged a bus to bring them to the picnic grounds.

During the morning many thoroughly enjoyed swimming in the pool built out into Mirror Lake. This pool made it perfectly safe for even the youngsters to bathe as it was only from two to four feet in depth with a platform and railing running entirely around it. During the late hours of the afternoon the pool was the most popular place there.

After dinner many games, races, jumping contests, etc., were held which were thoroughly enjoyed by both young and old. Those winning were, Agnes Pedan, Barbara Boss, Herbert Van Deusen, Herbert Pedan, Mrs. Charles R. O'Connor, Chester Van DeMark, Saracris Gage, Roger Hall, Virginia Brown, Verna VanDeusen, Helen Cragin, Mrs. Herbert Van Deusen, and Donald Van Deusen.

A familiar sight and much to the delight of the children was Nate Schuler selling his toy balloons, whistles, etc.

The weather was ideal and there was nothing to mar the pleasures of the day. At five o'clock a tired but happy crowd returned ending one of the most successful picnics they have held for some time.

Will Not Bother With Milk Scandal

Governor Smith Tells Citizens Union That He Will Not Interfere Unless Requested to by Mayor Walker.

Albany, N. Y., July 28.—Governor Smith has made it clear that he will not intervene in the New York city milk scandal unless Mayor Walker indicated the desirability of such action.

The governor last night sent a letter to the Citizens' Union in which he turned down a request of the Supreme Court to supersede the district attorneys of the counties affected by the attorney general, in order to make possible an inquiry not hampered by county lines.

Facts About Man of Today

For countless centuries man has shown himself capable of perfecting his tools, but not his mind, and all the varied apparatus with which he arms himself will not save him from an oblivion like that of the mastodon and the auroons. His race will perish. The fate of the race is inherent in the fate of the individual.

Man is not more intelligent today than he was of old. He has accumulated resources of every kind and he employs them in order to create others. But the inventor of wireless telegraphy is not more intelligent than the inventor of the wheel.

He has more industry, not more brains. He makes war with more devices, but not with more intelligence than the savage.—From "Last Pages," by Anatole France. Translated From the French by Michel Corday.

Marionettes in History

Marionettes played their parts in the fragrant groves of Nippur and in the hanging gardens of Babylon. Puppets of terra cotta amused the children of the kings of the Nile before the days of the pharaohs.

Their history dates back into the dawn of civilization, long before written chronicles began. Famous men from Sargon I to Bernard Shaw, from William the Conqueror to Wilhelm of Doorn, have been entertained by them.

It may be that the puppets have survived the iconoclastic progress of the centuries because they appeal to the atom of philosophy tucked away in the brain of each human being.

Modern Mother and Child

A woman who is so fashionable that she is almost a stranger to her little son decided that it was about time she became acquainted with him.

She read old books about the things mothers used to do, such as singing lullabies and rocking to sleep.

And then, one night, she sent her nurse out and stayed at home, just for a new sensation.

She crept into her little son's bedroom, and began to croon, as she rumbled the bed, about, "Hush-a-bye, baby, on the tree-top."

The child turned a wondering eye on her, and then said, sleepily:

"I sky, cut that stuff out, mother. A fellow wants to get some sleep."

World Needs Its Nitrogen

Extraction of nitrogen from the air on a large scale might make the weather warmer, as has been suggested, but an effect more far-reaching in another direction would result, according to scientists. It would increase the proportion of oxygen, they assert. Hence, humans would mature and live quicker and die younger; everything would become dryer, hotter and faster, and eventually the world would spontaneously burst into flame.

FARM POULTRY

BUILDINGS MUST BE COMFORTABLE

A poultry house which is dry, light, clean and free from drafts or sudden changes of temperature is essential for success with poultry. Hens must be comfortable if they are to be good producers.

It is not always the showy house that produces the best results. Conservatively built houses that provide comfortable quarters are often as good from a practical standpoint as more expensive houses. In fact, at the present time, the small house which can be moved from place to place is rapidly gaining in popularity on account of the benefits derived from moving the chickens to fresh ground in order to avoid diseases by germs that may be lurking in soil long occupied by poultry.

Poultry investigators agree that lack of vitality which has resulted in loss of birds when shipped is the indirect result of increased size of our flocks without a corresponding increase in housing facilities. This is another reason for added attention to poultry buildings.

From the standpoint of satisfactory returns poultry pays as well as any other class of live stock and no other live stock, unless it is the dairy stock, responds so readily to good housing conditions as does poultry. Good locations are essential in order to make good houses give results.

Poultry houses should be located conveniently to the other farm buildings and so that the chickens will range toward the house. If possible the ground should slope toward the south and face in that direction in order to give the birds the maximum amount of sunshine on short winter days. The house should be protected with a windbreak. If no natural windbreak is available some trees or shrubs should be planted to afford shelter.

A good many of the experiment stations have excellent bulletins in poultry-house construction. This is a good time of the year to build a house and get the benefit of it this winter.

Improper Feeding Will Cause Bowel Disorders

This is a time of the year when a good many bowel disorders come from improper feeding or from feeds that are not in first class condition. During warm weather it is very easy for some of the mixtures to spoil and if feeds of this type are fed to the chicks the results are usually diarrhea and sometimes death.

The commercial feeds of the large manufacturers are usually kept and sold under conditions which protect them from spoilage, but if large amounts are stored on the farm they should have a dry place.

Another danger at this season of the year is dead animals. Dead rats, mice, rabbits, and often chickens are allowed to lie where the chickens may pick at them. During hot weather such carcasses often develop ptomaine poisons with the result that a heavy loss of both chicks and mature fowls occur before the cause of the trouble is discovered.

Chicken Raisers Trying Canaries as Side Line

Chicken raisers and poultry fanciers in increasing numbers are interesting themselves in canary breeding. The man who raises chickens finds that he has enough spare time and experience on his hands to breed canaries, and the large profits in this business have attracted poultrymen in surprisingly large numbers.

One new reason for rising demand for canaries, according to the trade, is the fact that interior decoration methods now make such wide use of the bird cage in the average American home. That this is possible is due to the new type of cages, made of pyralin instead of brass, which come in a score of colors and soft, harmonious blends. Many are finished in the duco process. Tests are now being made to determine the amount of the favorable effect which such cages exercise on the canaries' singing.

Substitutes for Milk

There are several of the so-called milk substitutes on the market which are sold under various trade names. Good ones can also be mixed at home. One of the best home-mixed calf meals is the one known as the Purdue mixture. It consists of equal parts of hominy feed, linseed meal, red dog flour, and dried blood. This meal is mixed in the proportion of one part of the meal to seven parts of warm water and fed to the chicken flock in the form of a slop.

Moist Mash for Change

Sometimes it is advisable to feed a moist mash to the hens. Take the same mash that is ordinarily fed to the hens dry, and moisten it with buttermilk or sour milk until it is crumbly, not wet and sloppy, and they will relish it as a change. Hens appreciate a change in diet sometimes just the same as human beings do. In feeding moist mash, however, extra care is necessary and only as much of it should be fed as the hens will clean up quickly.

Pope Julius II is said to have been the first pope to let his beard grow, and the fashion set by him was soon followed by the Emperor Charles V and many other European rulers.

Subway Service Near Normal

New York, July 28.—Although the subway strikers stood firm against "individual" negotiations with the company, the Interborough Rapid Transit announced today that the subway and elevated service would go back on a full "peacetime" footing with full speed service starting at midnight tonight, with slight exceptions.

The company declared service during the rush hour today was 92.5 per cent normal. The total loss since the beginning of the strike, it was said, was $479,450.75.

Rush hour traffic was tied up 20 minutes today when a man believed to be Avore Strunin, leaped to his death before an express train at the Grand street station of the Third Avenue elevated railroad. Firemen extricated the body.

Colonials Play Chappie Tonight

The Colonials will have to trim Chappie Johnson's All-Stars both tonight and tomorrow night to even up their series with the crack colored club. Chappie has already three of Kingston's wins in his trophy case and the Phelpsmen have taken but one match.

At their first meeting in the latter part of June in a Sunday double header these two rivals divided the day's program. The Colonials won the first match with Smith pitching like a house on fire, the score being 7 to 3. Then in the second match Chappie injected a few pounds of fight in his warriors and took the locals off their feet by a 4 to 2 tally. Shortly afterwards the Kingstonians took a short trip upstate and were forced to bow twice to the colored club. Chappie beat the locals in Johnstown by a 15 to 11 score and at Glens Falls by a 4 to 2 finish.

The two clubs will meet tonight at the Fair Grounds with the game starting at 6:15 instead of 6.30. Before in twilight matches it was difficult to play nine innings because of darkness so the game will start this evening fifteen minutes earlier.

"Dream Baby" Is Legitimate Child

Mother Answers Charge of Illegitimacy With Claim That Child Was "Dream Baby"—Case One of the Most Expensive Ever Tried.

London, July 28.—The King's Bench Court today declared Baby Geoffrey Russell, the "Dream Baby," the legitimate child of the Hon. John Hugo Russell, son of Lord Ampthill and Mrs. Christabel Russell, thus bringing to a conclusion one of the most famous divorce cases in the history of the English courts.

Russell petitioned for a divorce from his wife in 1922, charging her with infidelity. Mrs. Russell defended the case and in the course of the trial Russell's attorneys denied the paternity of Geoffrey, on behalf of their client, maintaining that Russell and his wife had never lived together as man and wife. Mrs. Russell answered this charge with the claim that Geoffrey was a "Dream Baby" and amazing medical evidence was presented in court.

Russell was granted a divorce decree after two trials were held. Mrs. Russell then carried the case to the House of Lords where the divorce decree was rescinded on grounds that the evidence of the husband was not legally admissible.

The decisions of the various courts, however, left some doubt as to the court's opinion of the legitimacy of Baby Geoffrey. Since the child might one day come into the title of Lord Ampthill, Mrs Russell sought a court ruling in favor of Geoffrey, which was handed down today.

The case, which has dragged through the courts for four years, is said to have been one of the most expensive ever tried.

Mrs. Russell is now engaged in dress designing and conducts a modiste's shop and designs many of the costumes for London theatrical productions.

Desert Marriage Annuled in France

Explorer Married to American Girl by Belgian Missionary—Purchase or Capture of Bride or Ceremony by Diplomatic Agent Would Have Been Legal.

Paris, July 28.—The "great adventure" of Martha Mailey, who as a young American girl had the distinction of being one of the first explorers ever to penetrate the mysteries of the Gobi Desert, has gone upon the rocks.

A decree handed down by the Paris divorce court has granted an annulment of marriage to M. Jacques de Lesdain, an equally famous French explorer, whose marriage to the American girl culminated a romance as novel as any expounded in the most imaginative "best-seller."

In 1902, while Lesdain was leading an expedition through the Gobi Desert, he crossed the path of another explorer. The latter proved to be Miss Mailey who, dressed in men's clothes, commanded her expedition with the assurance born of the safe culmination of many adventures. The couple fell in love, and joined company as far as Chahernow, where a Belgian missionary married them.

This extraordinary romance of the desert came its first cropper in 1918, when Lesdain first began his proceedings for annulment of the marriage. His suit has just been declared successful, because under the French code it is specified that to be valid the marriage of a Frenchman abroad must be celebrated either before a diplomatic or consular agent or in the form customary in the particular foreign country.

In this case, these conditions had not been fulfilled. Mongol marriages depend for the most part on purchase or capture, and Lesdain has not taken either of these means of winning his wife. His suit, therefore, was successful.

Miss Mailey, however, scored at least a partial victory, for the court ruled that as the marriage was contracted by her in good faith, its civil effects must be interpreted to the full advantage of her and her child.

Evangelist Case May Be Reopened

Assistant District Attorney Ryan Positive That Mrs. McPherson Was With Radio Operator—Will Present New Evidence to Grand Jury.

Monterey, Cal., July 28.—With the definite announcement of Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, that her daughter would not come here to confront witnesses who are positive the evangelist was the woman who was seen here subsequent to her disappearance last May at Ocean Park, in the company of a man identified as Kenneth L. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple, and with the departure of officers for Los Angeles who were here investigating the case, excitement today was slowly subsiding.

Before departing for Los Angeles, where Assistant District Attorney Joseph Ryon said he would present new evidence before the grand jury, in the event that it convenes again to investigate the McPherson case, he and Captain of Detectives Herman Cline visited several stores in neighboring cities in an effort to locate the source of the clothes worn by Mrs McPherson when she made her spectacular reappearance into the world, saying she had been kidnapped and spirited away to Mexico.

Just before he left here, Ryan said he was positive that Mrs. McPherson was the mysterious, begoggled woman who accompanied the man who has been identified as Ormiston.

"Three persons have positively identified Mrs McPherson as the woman who occupied the Benedict cottage at Carmel," Ryan declared.

Ryan also said that he had secured affidavits from a dozen witnesses, all of them, it was said, positively naming Ormiston as the man who rented the Carmel bungalow under the name of "McIntyre."

"Conspiracy," Says Evangelist.

Los Angeles, July 28.—The identification as Aimee Semple McPherson of the woman who occupied a secluded cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea with Kenneth C. Ormiston, former Angelus Temple radio operator, is merely one phase of the gigantic conspiracy to wreck Angelus Temple, an inspired statement of the evangelist declared today.

Her attorneys announced that the well known woman pastor would neither go to Carmel to face the persons who have made the identification or submit samples of her handwriting and finger prints for comparison with specimens found in the Carmel Cottage.

"We will not dignify this premeditated plot by attempting to refute it," Attorney R. R. Woolley asserted. "This supposed solution of the so-called investigations will be exploded like the other 'solutions for the McPherson mystery.'"

Sing "Identification Blues."

The "Identification Blues" were sung at Mrs McPherson's Angelus Temple by members of her congregation last night. The chorus sang:

"Identifications may come, identifications may go; goggles may come, goggles may go.

"But are we downhearted?"

The congregation replied in the negative.

RONDOUT ATHLETIC CLUB WINS ANOTHER GAME

The Rondout A. C. again won from the Pan-Am Nine Tuesday, this time at their own diamond, by a score of 6 to 4. The Rondouts scored in the first inning when Chet Krom hit a home run, chasing Hertica in ahead of him.

Ken Best pitched wonderful baseball and very seldom was in danger, except when they scored two runs in the fourth and two in the fifth on three hits and three errors. Best also fanned twelve and allowed them only five hits.

ACID INDIGESTION DISTRESSES BODY IN HOT WEATHER

Geyser and Hathorn Waters Relieve Acidity and Cleanse Digestive System

In summer it is most important to keep the digestive system clean and active and prevent the accumulation of acid generating foods.

Geyser water, bottled at the State Owned Geyser spring at Saratoga under State supervision, is a delicious summer drink which neutralizes acidity, relieves acid conditions, stops sourness and gas, thereby aiding the digestive processes to become normal. Sipped with meals Geyser aids digestion and reduces acid indigestion. The result is a prompt feeling of relief from hot weather distress. The apparent burden on the heart is relieved. Taken just before retiring Geyser allays acid irritation and induces more restful sleep. Geyser taken in quantities between meals is an excellent relief for rheumatic conditions.

Hathorn, the natural laxative water, also bottled at the State owned Hathorn spring at Saratoga under State supervision, is delightfully effective in eliminating undigested food and accumulations which distress and overheat the body, especially in summer. Drink Hathorn upon arising. Its delightful effect will make a hot day less distressing. The taste is delicious. Both Geyser and Hathorn are naturally charged, sparkling, refreshing waters.

Whittemore Must Hang August 13

"Candy Kid" Lost Final Plea When Governor Ritchie Refused to Commute Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

Baltimore, July 28.—Richard Reese Whittemore must hang by the neck until dead in the early morning of Friday, August 13.

The "Candy Kid", convicted of the murder of Robert H Holtman, guard, lost his final chance to escape the rope when Governor Ritchie refused to intervene to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

Whittemore paced his cell nervous today and reiterated to guards: "The quicker this thing is done the better."

Royal Couple in San Francisco

Swedish Prince and Princess Will Remain There Until August 3—Will Then Sail for Orient.

San Francisco, July 28.—This will be another busy day in the lives of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden.

With the welcoming roar of thousands still in their ears, the royal Swedish couple were scheduled to be officially welcomed to San Francisco at 11 o'clock this morning at the city hall. Before this ceremony, the Crown Prince will receive official calls of respect from officers of the navy, army, marine corps, officials of all government branches and distinguished citizens.

The Crown Prince and Princess will be guests of San Francisco until August 3, when they will embark for Honolulu, en route to the Orient.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Reception last night was neither as strong nor as clear as on Monday. There was almost constant fat frying and occasional fading

It was a combination of band and ukulele night, with the municipal band concerts going strong in Allentown and Baltimore especially.

WWJ announced morning swimming lessons by radio, an indication that radio may be a rival of the correspondence school

Chicago, Zion, Cleveland, Montreal, Davenport, Pittsburgh and Atlantic City stations were heard well, considering the fat frying.

The claim jumpers, as usual, mixed themselves up and could not be heard as well as before they jumped WMSG seems to have put itself out entirely by the change.

EARTHQUAKE REGISTERED AT FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

New York, July 28.—A severe earthquake was registered early today on the seismograph at Fordham University. The temblor, which began at 5:13 a. m., daylight saving time, reached its maximum intensity at 5:58 and continued until 7:10 a. m. The Rev. J S O'Conor, in charge of the station, estimated the centre of the disturbance as about 6,700 miles from New York. He was unable to state the direction.

Lighting Pullman Cars

Candles were largely used from 1865 to 1874, oil from 1875 to 1880 and Pintsch gas from 1891 to 1900. The first electrically lighted train was the Pennsylvania Limited, June, 1887, a dynamo engine being placed in the baggage car. Later, along about 1898, individual axle lighting generators were developed.

In the Diplomatic Spotlight

William Culbertson, American Minister to Rumania, fought with an officer who objected to his shirt sleeves in a railway station. President Coolidge, alarmed at anti-American agitation in Europe, summoned Richard Washburn Child, former Ambassador to Italy, for a conference. Don Juan Riano y Gayangos, Spanish Ambassador to Washington, was recalled, leaving Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, of Belgium, dean of the diplomatic corps.

NEW YORK CITY RESIDENTS ENTERED VACANT HOUSE.

Beatrice Dinter, Charles Koster, George Kline, Arnold Lunn, Richard Montgomery, John Istell, Leonard Reine, David Earl, Mrs Amelia Koster and Earl Koster, all of New York city, and boarders at the Bellhood House at Saxton, were arrested by Officer Lavelle, of the Saugerties police force on the complaint of J Garfield Dederick, who charged them with unlawful entry in entering the Leonard Mower house, owned by him, and breaking the windows and doors and uprooted some of the vegetables growing in the garden. All were arraigned Monday evening before Police Justice Gardner in Saugerties and the hearing adjourned. It is said that the boarders told the court they did not think they were doing any wrong as the place was unoccupied.

Cherrytown Chapel Reopens.

The Cherrytown Reformed Chapel will open again next Monday, August 2. The service will start at 7:45 p. m., standard time. Topic, "The Old-Time Religion." There are several reasons which will become evident, why better meetings may be expected this year, although it will require much effort on the part of the residents to come on Monday nights. A cordial invitation is extended all, without regard to nationality or denomination.

Great Value Even in Moments of Leisure

Farm women have recognized that well-earned and well-used leisure is the oil which makes the necessary duties of life be performed happily. Carl Sandburg has said: "Life is a combination of biscuits and hyacinths," and the farm woman is learning to realize the value of the hyacinths as she has long since realized the value of the biscuits, a writer in the Country Gentleman asserts. She is changing her objective from shining pots-and-pans to shining joyous faces, and she and her family alike are profiting by the change in accent.

Not all farm women are realizing the value of leisure, and but few farm women as yet have leisure in needed measure; nor are all who have won it using it effectively. But a good beginning has been made and the future is full of hope.

These times of leisure are usually moments only for some women. I know one mother of five young children who can't find 15-minute periods for recreating mind and soul. She says she can find leisure only for a moment here and there. To be sure, she looks ahead to the time when she can hasten the personal service to the little fellas, but now practically every moment demands her attention, and to her leisure, like a penny, is awarded head upon head.

Cane and Beet Sugar

When highly refined no one can distinguish between cane and beet sugar, as they are one and the same thing. Between the crude or raw beet and cane sugars there is a great difference, the latter being edible, while the former is not, as it possesses a very disagreeable odor and taste. Cane sugar molasses is good for culinary purposes; beet sugar molasses is not. Cane juice contains glucose, but beet juice does not, though the latter contains raffinose and the former does not.

Wind's Great Effect on Personal Comfort

Personal comfort at any time of the year depends to an astonishing degree on wind; that is on the motion of the air. An interesting experiment, described by a writer in the American Magazine, illustrates the point.

To find out the different effects of still air and of air in motion, a man was shut up in a telephone booth. The booth contained an electric fan and it also had tubes through which fresh air could be supplied. The man had a lighted cigarette.

With the electric fan going, and with no fresh air coming in through the tubes, the man was comfortable, even after his cigarette had gone out because of lack of oxygen to burn. But when he was shut up in the booth without the fan being turned on, he was soon in great discomfort, even though he was being supplied with fresh air through the tubes.

"Divine" High Priest

The Grand Lama is the supreme high priest of the Lamaistic hierarchy, and is regarded as a divine being. Lamaism is the name of the religion prevailing in Mongolia and Tibet and to some extent in China; its followers are numbered in the millions. Lamaism is a form of Buddhism, corrupted by Shamism, and by Shamanism or spirit worship. It was introduced into Tibet by the Chinese about the middle of the Seventh century, A. D., and shortly thereafter the holy city of Lhasa became a goal for great pilgrims and the seat of the Grand Lama. The Grand Lama is also called the Dalai Lama, i. e., the ocean-priest, or priest as wide as the ocean.—Exchange.

Might Be Worth Trying

If every electric light collector in the factories of the United States were shaken simultaneously the millennium of industry would be devised, according to an authority.
